Accessories for the BMW R 18

D-Breisach, 16th May 2022 Since last year, manufacturer WUNDERKIND-Custom has been developing an extensive conversion program for the BMW R 18. As it has been gone down so well further, accessories have been developed.

„Since 2021 we've been developing and producing conversion parts for the popular Big Boxer. Meanwhile, our customers can fall back on a wide range of custom parts for an individualization of their motorbike; accessories for a decent improvement of the overall design, for the optimization of the ergonomics, up to a complete rear conversion. All these possible changes give the BMW R 18 a new character,“ as CEO Christian Mehlhorn says.

For a better operability, combined with a coherent design, there are individually adjustable brake and clutch levers in the handlebar area. In addition, handlebar mirrors in a matching design are offered. Brand new are also the two versions for a handlebar conversion which are supplied in a ready-to-install kit. With both conversion versions the seating position becomes more sporty as both accessory handlebars are flatter constructed and shaped in a way that the grip area is further forward compared to the original. In addition, the accessory handlebars are narrower, in total. Depending on the conversion version and the position of the handlebars, the changes are slightly to clearly noticeable. But that's not all: for a more coherent look the headlights and speedometer of the Big Boxer can now also be lowered with a conversion kit. The kit is available - depending on the requirements - with or without steelflex lines. Small, discreet LED handlebar indicators covers to hide the side reflectors and a shapely and protective fairing for the oil cooler round off the program in the front.

The southern German accessories manufacturer used his gained experience in the construction of complete Bobber rear conversions for various motorcycle models and developed an independent conversion kit for the new BMW R 18. It includes an adjustable Bobber seat, frame covers milled from the solid, a handmade two-millimeter steel fender as well as fenderstruts with integrated 3-in-1 LED turn signal-tail light combination. In addition, a side license plate holder was also created in two different design versions. Those who do not wish a rear conversion but want to have the side license plate holder, they can draw back to a 3-in-1 LED indicator/taillight solution additionally. If that is not enough, you can add grippy replacement foot pegs and adjustable levers in a matching design.

And for an even cleaner look and the right sound, WUNDERKIND-Custom gave their project bike a beautiful, adjustable flap exhaust system from the specialist 'Jekill and Hyde'.

Summarized it can be said that the motorcycle not only looks more 'rock-like' after the conversion. It also offers increased seating comfort without making compromises concerning the lean angle clearance.

All WUNDERKIND-Custom parts are developed at the southern German location in Breisach and comply with the German road traffic regulation 'StVzo' or have a homologation paper.
